Premantura - Kap Kamenjak

Kap Kamenjak (also Rt Kamenjak or Donji Kamenjak), the southernmost peninsula of Istria, stretches from north to south at a length of 9,5 km; 30 km of coast with beautiful bays are inviting to bathe and relax. Kap Kamenjak, declared a nature protection area in 1966, is known for its botanical diversity. More than 500 Mediterranean plants can be found in this area, meadows and Macchia as well as wonderful pine forests. Especially remarkable are the more than 20 kinds of wild orchids that grow here.

The gorgeous beaches and the crystal clear water in the many rock and gravel bays make this place a paradise for surfers, divers, bathers and sun worshippers. The entire peninsula is pervaded by countless paths (unhitched). Some access roads, also those to the bays within the cap, have been closed for cars for many years, which helped to preserve the nativeness and uniqueness of the peninsula.

Premantura, 10 km south of Pula, is a picturesque place with 450 inhabitants. It was first populated in the Bronze Age and a popular recreation place in Roman times.

Today Premantura, the southernmost town of Istria, has got a good infrastructure (shops, bakeries, restaurants serving a delicious range of fish and seafood, very good bus connection to Pula) and is a very popular holiday resort.
